

about it. I had heard that the county engineer of that county had refused to accept the road. That was all I knew."

Mr. Whitman asked if the witness remembered asking Mr. Aldridge to go and see Mr. Hasset at the State Engineer's office, but Mr. Connelley couldn't remember it. "I remember going to the Highway Department with Mr. Aldridge in December, because I wanted Aldridge to get his money," he said.

He didn't recall seeing Aldridge at Keller's Restaurant in Albany with Mr. Hasset or Mr. Neville, a clerk in Mr. Hasset's office.

WHITMAN TAKES UNUSUAL STEPS IN GRAFT GRAND JURY.

In order to insure a satisfactory special grand jury to investigate the alleged conduct of up-state baron canal and highway contractors by the Democratic State Committee and other political organizations, District Attorney Whitman requested this afternoon the unprecedented plan of examining the men summoned for duty on this grand jury as takersmen are questioned in a criminal case. The District Attorney does not want anybody on the grand jury who might feel an interest in any contractor that may be called as a witness.

The grand jury was to have been drawn in the regular way this morning, but Justice Davis, after a conference with the District Attorney, put over the matter until this afternoon. Then the business men summoned for duty found that they were to undergo an examination in open court.

Albert L. Klein, in business at No. 110 Fifth avenue, was the first to be questioned. He was asked if he knew any reason why he should not serve as a grand juror. If he had any interest in any municipal or State contracts, if he had any relatives or friends so interested directly or indirectly, or if he had any relatives or friends in public office, he was accepted as a member of the grand jury.

ONE CITY CONTRACTOR ACCEPTED AS A JUROR.

Charles F. Paddock, a clerk, and Frederick M. Johnson, an insurance broker, were also accepted. William L. Duffy, a contractor at No. 523 West Thirty-fourth street, was accepted, although he said he had a contract with the Department of Charities.

Walter F. Sullivan, an insurance broker; Samuel H. Robert, a merchant at No. 20 Vesey street; Francis H. Cabot, a merchant at No. 40 North street; Peter Snyder, a banker at No. 28 William street; David M. Frank, a manufacturer at No. 35 East Fifty-second street; Edward P. Patch, manager of the Hotel Manhattan; Harry M. Isaac, in business at No. 120 Pearl street; and Samuel Brill, the clothing merchant, were accepted in succession.

Then came Jeremiah C. Lyons, a contractor at No. 30 East Forty-second street.

Mr. Lyons said he had done a great deal of work for the city. He described some of the contracts he had executed. District Attorney Whitman excused him from duty, saying that the action was no reflection upon Mr. Lyons, but Mr. Lyons did not appear to be quite enthusiastic over his experience.

Mr. Lyons was the only candidate excused. The grand jury was completed by the selection of the following: Philip Lehman, banker, No. 22 William street; Edward S. Karkness, No. 24 Broadway; John S. Marcus, banker, No. 81 Delancey street; Emil Frankel, insurance agent, No. 30 Maiden Lane; Hugo Bismuth, banker, No. 2 Nassau street; David Freed, No. 45 Pearl street, who has been foreman of many important grand juries; Herbert H. Dean, manager, No. 27 Pine street; Harold H. Hackett, No. 81 Broadway; Herman Levy, retired, No. 56 East Seventy-fifth street; William E. Schaffner, retired, No. 47 Fourth avenue; and Dennis P. Driscoll, insurance, No. 7 Pine street. Mr. Sullivan was elected foreman.

James W. Osborne, the special investigator into highway and large canal graft appointed by Gov. Glynn, and District Attorney Whitman had a conference late this afternoon. Mr. Osborne came down from Albany with a message from the Governor to set at rest reports to the effect that the Osborne inquiry may nullify the investigation under the direction of Mr. Whitman.

The District Attorney was assured that he will not be hampered in any inquiry he institutes that comes under his jurisdiction. Mr. Osborne does not intend to interfere with prosecutions already instituted in this county or any prosecutions to come.

POLICE SEEK RUNAWAY GIRL

Mother Says Missing Daughter Has Been Seen at Tendorlin Resort.

Mrs. Emily Keeningsham of No. 413 West Forty-seventh street called at Police Headquarters today to solicit the aid of the Detective Bureau in finding her fourteen-year-old daughter Ruth, who was taken from home on Nov. 21. Detectives in the West Forty-seventh street precinct have been unable to find the girl, although Mrs. Keeningsham says she has been told that Ruth has been seen in several Tendorlin resorts where dancing is the entertainment.

Ruth Keeningsham, her mother says, could pass for eighteen years old. She is a blonde, 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighs 137 pounds. When she left home she wore a black velvet top or bonnet, a brown and black striped coat, a mixed gray striped skirt and a white waist. On her hand she wore a signet ring with the initials "R. K."

WALL STREET TO FIGHT.

Mr. E. de Aguiro, President of the Consolidated Stock Exchange of New York, and the members of the legislative committee, consisting of E. C. Adams Jr., Ogden D. Buid, F. A. Farnsworth, W. T. Marsh and W. L. S. Webster, are preparing for a vigorous campaign at Albany for the repeal of the law imposing a tax on sales and transfers of stocks.

When the stamp tax was first put into effect in 1904 the receipts to the State for the fiscal year from the tax were about $5,000,000. For the calendar year of 1912 about $5,000,000 was obtained by the State, and it is argued that with business in the financial district steadily decreasing the receipts for the present year will be very much less. Members of the Exchange declare that this tax on Wall Street is inequitable.

CONGRESS OPENS REGULAR SESSION, CEREMONY LACKING

Senate and House, Dispensing Recess, Continue Work Without a Break.

MESSAGE IN TO-MORROW

President Wilson to Read, in Person His Address—Big Rush to Hear Him.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—A new session of Congress, the second in President Wilson's Administration, began work at noon today. Vice-President Marshall, as 12 o'clock arrived, declared the old session adjourned "without day," and in the next breath announced that Congress had assembled "in accordance with the Constitution."

More formally marked the opening in the House, but there was no ceremony. The chaplain, Rev. Henry N. Conden, offered prayer, referring with particular emphasis to "the great economic and social problems which concern the welfare of the individual, the home, the Government and the religious life of the nation." A roll call disclosed a quorum, something the House has not had in many weeks.

The Senate began the session with its first day's work already mapped out. Debate on the Hetch Hetchy bill began at once. It was expected that the revised draft of the Currency bill would be presented late today and would be debated during intermissions in the discussion over the Water bill.

The regular December session, following without a break upon the heels of the long extra session that has run since April 7, brought to tired lawmakers today a new host of problems and the prospect of steady work for many months.

A widespread demand for tickets for the House gallery for to-morrow's session indicated the interest that centers about President Wilson's reappearance at the Capitol to deliver a Presidential address. The President will read his first general message to Congress at a joint session of the two houses at 1 o'clock to-morrow and it is expected he will touch upon many of the problems to be taken up at the new session.

While the Senate is working on currency legislation and disposing of the Hetch Hetchy Water Supply bill during the early days of the new session, the House will start work upon the great appropriation bill, carrying more than $1,000,000,000 of funds for the needs of the Government during the year that begins next July.

The annual estimates made by the Treasury Department were presented to the House when it assembled at noon. Preliminary work by the appropriations committees has brought several of the supply bills near completion, and an effort will be made to pass the $1,000,000,000 District of Columbia bill and the Fortifications Appropriation bill before Christmas.

Democratic members of the Senate worked all day yesterday to complete their agreement on the Currency bill so that the measure might be pushed for immediate consideration today. Senate leaders hope that by holding the Senate to long hours the bill may be passed in time to permit a short recess at the holidays. If it has not been acted upon the Senate will forego all vacation except on Christmas Day.

GIRL WRECKED ROOM TO SPITE HER LANDLADY ON FIFTH AVENUE

Ordered to Leave House, She Smashes Bric-a-Brac and Furniture, Is Charged.

Florence Deshor, who says she is an actress, twenty-two years old, was this afternoon held in $500 bail for examination to-morrow morning by Magistrate Nolan in the Yorkville Court on a charge of malicious mischief. The complaint is made by Mrs. Robert Rhine, who has a boarding house at No. 1 West Forty-seventh street, at the corner of Fifth avenue. She charges that Mrs. Deshor smashed pictures, bric-a-brac and furniture, and that she was smashing glassware that was smashable just because she had ordered the young woman out of the house.

According to the story Mrs. Rhine told the police, Miss Deshor, who is a tall, slaty brunette, had a friend at the house last evening and Mrs. Rhine objected.

The result of the controversy was that this afternoon Miss Deshor was ordered to vacate her room. This roused the actress's ire, and, according to the complaint, the young woman went to her room to think it over. A moment later, says Mrs. Rhine, sounds not unlike those heard in the crookery smashing games at the island round Mrs. Rhine's boarders.

Mrs. Rhine finally got into the room and says that the place was a wreck. She again ordered the actress to leave. The young woman refused. Sgt. Callahan placed her under arrest.

Sgt. Callahan's notice of Fresh Blood in New York City for the week ending December 1, 1913, arrested 11,000, for 1913, 1,000.

Condemned Lieutenant, Wife And Lawyer Who Makes Plea

365 AUTO DRIVERS IN DAY'S ROUNDUP, SCORES GO TO JAIL

ten days in jail on all violators of the speed ordinances. During the night and early morning every automobile owner with a "pull" had telephoned or called on a politician or some other person presumably having influence asking said person to appear at the Police Court today and "fix things."

Nearly every Tammany and Republican district leader in Manhattan was on hand. There were several judges and ex-judges, numerous minor politicians and all sorts of minor "fixers." It didn't take long to find that "pull" had no effect with Magistrate Krotel.

To the politicians who had the temerity to approach him and ask him to be lenient with certain offenders the Magistrate replied that he was going to fine everybody $50 and send those who couldn't pay the fine to jail. Then the "fixers" started in to work among the policemen who had served the summonses.

POLICEMEN NOT ALLOWED TO MODIFY CHARGES.

Sometimes it is possible to get a policeman to modify a charge. There was nothing doing in that line today. Duplicates of the summonses served on the offenders were taken to the police office at Police Headquarters. Any officer modifying a charge would find himself up for trial.

After various plans had been tried it was discovered that Magistrate Krotel will not sit in West Side Court to-morrow. Then offenders began to plead for adjournment until to-morrow morning. Under the law Magistrate Krotel had to grant these adjournments, but there was a hard smile on his features as he did so, and it wouldn't be surprising if this particular Magistrate should be back on the job at West Side Police Court to-morrow despite reports that he is to sit elsewhere.

Something like one hundred persons charged with speeding took adjournments, to the disgust of the policemen who served the summonses. Later some of the offenders were taken to court and ordered to pay their fines, figuring that no matter who is sitting later Magistrate Krotel's example will probably be followed and that there is no use waiting any more time.

Never has there been such a jam as this, which the West Side Court groaned under today. Not only was the court room packed, but the crowd overflowed into the corridor down the stairs and out into the street. West Fifty-fourth street between Eighth and Ninth avenues was an open garage, with automobiles panting and roaring and smoking and leaking from curb to curb. There was an overflow of cars in Fifty-fourth street from Eighth avenue over toward Broadway and as fast as cars went away new ones arrived.

ANOTHER MAGISTRATE CALLED TO HEAR ROUTINE CASES.

Magistrate Krotel when he looked over the docket saw that he would be kept busy all day with automobile offenders. He sent for Magistrate Levy to take care of the routine business of the court and started in on drivers and chauffeurs.

There were a few taxicab drivers among the offenders, but the bulk of those with summonses were the owners or drivers of big private cars. An unusually large number of actors and actresses figured in the proceedings, showing the activity of the police in the theatrical district. The chauffeurs of Nat Williams, Raymond Hitchcock and Alex Carr, comedians, and John Emerson, manager, were fined $50 each in rapid succession, and then came the negro chauffeur of Senator James Smith of New Jersey, who paid a $50 fine.

Evidently a great many of these who had been served with summonses had not anticipated paying more than a $10 fine, for they didn't have the necessary $50. Their loud cries when the Magistrate finally ordered them to look up a new host of problems and the prospect of steady work for many months.

Owners of expensive cars went to the court prison despite their appeals to be paroled long enough to get the money for the fines.

"There are free telephones in the prison," said the Court. "If you want to send for money send from there." Every once in a while a wildly excited man would arrive waving $50 and clamoring for Mr. So and So. Mr. So and So would be in jail, and there would be a lot of confusion about getting him out and handing over his fine to Clerk Finn, who was literally overwhelmed with money and figured that the day ought to net the city about $5,000 in fines.

GARAGE OWNER FINED $50 BY MAGISTRATE HOUSE.

George W. Edmundson, a garage owner at No. 23 West Sixty-third street, was fined $50 by Magistrate House in the Harlem Police Court today for exceeding the speed limit. Edmundson was charged with passing a car which was taking on and letting off passengers at One Hundred and Eighty-first street and Amsterdam avenue, yesterday afternoon, within less than the law's limit, eight feet.

The garage owner protested that the street was too narrow to admit of taking a space of eight feet. The Magistrate read the law to him, showing that in the circumstances he should have stopped until the car went on. Magistrate House said that he had violated the most important section of the speed law.

Magistrate House imposed a fine of $20 on Ralph A. Newman, a chauffeur, living at No. 117 West One Hundred and Seventy-ninth street. Newman, president of a decorating company, living at No. 271 West One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street, received a similar sentence.

Robert Burman, known as the "Speed King" and the winner of many prizes in automobile races, was fined $25 by Magistrate Krotel in the West Side Court. Burman was not recognized by Motorcycle Policeman Donovan, who summoned him for driving a car at twenty-five miles an hour on Fordham Road yesterday, and but for a newspaper man he would not have been recognized in the West Side Court.

LAWYER SUES LAWYER.

Elliott Norton, an attorney, who was assigned in the bankruptcy proceedings against the brokerage firm of Van Schaick & Co., in which John B. Van Schaick and Derby Crandall were partners, filed suit today in the Supreme Court for $50,000 damages against Charles Unangst, who appeared as attorney for some of the creditors in the bankruptcy hearings.

Norton alleges that Unangst in a schedule filed in the bankruptcy court to take care of the business of the firm, in which he was a partner, had conspired with Lawyer Charles F. Row to prefer certain creditors to the detriment of others and also that Norton converted to his own use funds which passed through his hands as assignee. In the same schedule, Norton alleges, Unangst declared that Row knew of the insolvent condition of the brokerage firm for five years before it went into bankruptcy and that he was a secret partner in the firm.

EXPECT TO INDICT RETIRED CAPTAIN ON SWINDLERS' STORY

Wiretappers and Former Detective Taken Before Grand Jury by Whitman.

An indictment against a retired captain of police is likely to follow the appearance before the Grand Jury today of ex-Detective Al Cohen and George McKee, first of the wiretappers to "sneak" Cohen's testimony concerning the past between the police and the wiretapping-clairvoyant syndicate is said to have been corroborated.

It was announced at the District Attorney's office that Cohen and McKee would tell their stories to the Grand Jury today and that they would be followed by the witnesses who are to corroborate their charges.

Bessie Cohen and McKee, Charles and Frederick Gendoff, "Paper Collar Joe" Gray, Frank Tarbois, "Big Bill" Larsen and "Curley" Carter were in the District Attorney's office under subpoena to appear before the Grand Jury.

Dominick Riley, a former policeman, also appeared at the office, but was told that he would not be needed today and a subpoena was handed to him calling for his return later in the week.

The indictment was not handed up when the Grand Jury adjourned this afternoon principally because Judge Swann of General Sessions was hungry. Judge Swann sent for the Grand Jury at 11:30 o'clock. He was beginning to get hungry. But the Grand Jury, having heard Cohen and McKee, was listening to the testimony of Albert Frick, manager of a saloon in which Cohen had testified he saw graft money.

Frick had much to tell, and when the Grand Jurors decided finally to obey Judge Swann's summons at 1:30 o'clock they met a messenger from the Judge telling them that he could wait no longer and had departed for his lunch. The Grand Jury adjourned and will not meet until 1 o'clock to-morrow.

BECKER'S WIFE HEARS LAST PLEA FOR HIM IN COURT

accusations, being incredible as a matter of fact and by reason of innumerable incidents which occurred on the trial prejudicial to the defendant, the judgment of conviction should be reversed and a new trial granted."

The argument in opposition was presented by Robert C. Taylor, Assistant District Attorney in District Attorney Whitman's office.

BECKER'S LAWYERS MAY ASK FOR DELAY TO HEAR SCHEPPS.

It is possible, but not probable, that delay will be asked by the Becker lawyers to take advantage of the offer made by Sam Schepps in Paris to tell a new story that may free Becker for a consideration of $10,000. Schepps was the most important witness in the murder trial, because he was the only one of consequence who was held not to have been an accomplice, and his testimony prejudicial to the defendant.

Mrs. Becker has received two cablegrams signed with Schepps' name. In one he said, "Great revelations will save Charles. Cable at once." In the other he wanted Mrs. Becker to come to Paris. He won't pay any attention to SCHEPPS.

Attorney Shay said today neither he nor Mrs. Becker had any intention at present of bringing Schepps back, nor would Mrs. Becker go to Paris. There is a report that Schepps would like to have Mrs. Becker go to Paris, so she could be snapped into a moving picture film he is promoting.

Nobody knows what sort of a new story Schepps might tell, but it is the opinion of the necessary most corroborations of the stories told by Rose, Webster and Vallon.

The only effect the Schepps offer could have on the arguments to begin to-day in Albany would be to prompt a request on the part of the Becker lawyers for a postponement. If Schepps has newly discovered testimony to offer it would have to be brought up in a motion before the trial judge, Justice Gott, for a new trial. A plea of newly discovered evidence would have no weight with the Court of Appeals, the arguments before which will be confined to the legality of the rulings of the court before which Becker was convicted.

A man under sentence of death, however, may make as many motions for a new trial as he pleases. In the Patrick case lawyers made four or five motions for a new trial before Justice Gott, every one being denied.

JUNIOR REPUBLIC FOUNDER ACCUSED BY YOUNG GIRLS

Joseph H. Choate Heads Committee Which Investigated William R. George.

As the result of charges involving three young girls, William R. George, founder of the George Junior Republic at Freeville and a director of the National Association of George Junior Republics, is likely to be asked to withdraw from the institution. A verdict as to whether or not George and his friends should retire is expected by Jan. 1, 1914, when three judges—Joseph H. Choate, Justice Samuel Seabury and Lillian D. Wald—who have been taking testimony during the last six months, file their report.

The investigating committee employed Henry A. Wise as its attorney. Emory R. Buckner represented Mr. George. Witnesses were brought from Kentucky and other States, and the lawyers have gone to many cities of this State to obtain evidence. All told, the record contains more than 2,000 pages or 500,000 words of testimony. It is understood that the investigation was directed by Mrs. Kate Fowler, a California woman who is greatly interested in the boy and girl life in the republics.

George was examined on Oct. 25 by the lawyers at the Bar Association, in the presence of the Judges and the attorneys. Mrs. William R. Pritchard, Carlos F. Macdonald and Frederick Peters. He has been at the Clifton Springs Sanitarium since that time.

SOME CHARGES INVESTIGATED AND HUSHED UP.

The numerous reports and charges concerning the management of the George institution which have been investigated, discussed and hushed up at times for the last year were reduced by the investigating committee to three principal allegations. Each charge involves the complaint of a girl member of the Republic.

Miss Elsie Whitmore, Miss Leah Klemm and Miss Ivy Temple declared that George forced his attentions on them and conducted himself with impropriety. There is a great deal of testimony that George was accustomed to treat girl citizens with offensive familiarity. He admitted to visiting their rooms day and night.

These charges were heard, the complaint declares, and disposed of by boy citizens who conducted "trials" growing out of the girls' charges. Mr. George in effect denies the three main charges. He denies improper relations with Miss Whitmore, Miss Klemm and Miss Temple. He admits he went to the rooms of the girls, but stated he did so because of severe headaches. Testimony was adduced to show that George is a hypnotist and that he frequently hypnotized himself. In these trances, he told persons who testified, he did not know what he did.

ZELAYA WILL GO FREE; MUST RETURN TO SPAIN

Nicaragua Withdraws Demand for Extradition of Former Dictator on Murder Charge.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 1.—Nicaragua's demand for the extradition of former President Jose Santos Zelaya was withdrawn today. Solicitor Folk of the State Department stated after a conference with attorneys representing Nicaragua that the South American republic would be satisfied if Zelaya, once released, would leave the country, Spain.

Postponement of to-day's hearing in the Zelaya case in New York was due to the fact that the State Department had an opportunity to pass upon allegations that the project to secure the extradition of Zelaya is a political and that certain financial interests are involved in an attempt to suppress the activities of the late President.

The Nicaraguan Government will be satisfied if assurance is given that Zelaya will not be permitted to gain a foothold where he would be able to foment trouble in the ranks of his former activities.

Mail Truck Breaks Man's Leg.

John Monahan, fifty-five, a laborer living in a Park Row lodging house, was run down by an automobile truck as he was crossing East Broadway this morning. He was taken to Hudson Hospital with a broken leg and possibly a fractured skull. The mail wagon, driven by John H. Smith, was on the way from the General Post-Office to Station B, in Delancey street.

13-YEAR-OLD GIRL GUILTY OF MURDERING HER LITTLE PLAYMATE

Jury Finds Verdict After She Tells of Quarrel and Beating Child to Death.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Dec. 1.—Kathleen Oka Simmon, thirteen years old, was today convicted of murdering her nine-year-old playmate, Julia Jenex, on the afternoon of June 21 last. The jury was out only one hour when it returned the verdict.

The little girl with tears streaming down her cheeks told the court of her crime. She said that in the afternoon of the murder she and her companion left home to gather dry roots for medicinal purposes.

While walking across a field, she said, the Jenex girl picked up a dead prairie chicken and struck her across the face with it. This made the accused girl angry and she threw her playmate to the ground.

The quarrel continued, according to the testimony, until the Simmon girl hit the other with a shovel, knocking her down, after which she beat her face into a pulp.

The girl has not yet been sentenced.

6,000 SILK WEAVERS TO BE LOCKED OUT

Paterson Mills Will Close to Ribbon Workers if They Strike for Nine-Hour Day.

PATERSON, N. J., Dec. 1.—When the whistles blew this morning at 7 o'clock for the start of work in the silk mills the outlook was that the blast for the ribbon weavers would be the last for some time to come. There are about 6,000 ribbon weavers here and 75 per cent. of them are said to be bound by promise to walk out at 5 o'clock this evening when they have worked the nine-hour day they will demand. The houses are banded together to resist the nine-hour day. The usual quitting time is 6 o'clock.

If the weavers go out at 5 there is every indication they will find the gates closed to them to-morrow morning. This strike or lockout will be nothing like the great strike of last winter, as the broad silk weavers and the dyers have decided not to join it.

FINED FOR SUNDAY WORK.

The Triangle Waist Company of No. 75 Fifth avenue was fined $20 in Special Sessions today. Labor Inspector Donohue testified that on Oct. 12, which came on Sunday, he had found several girls at work in the plant. The waist company had no defense to offer.

Since the fire in which more than 100 girls lost their lives the company has been in court on more than one occasion, once having locked the doors in its plant while girl workers were at their tasks.

PRINCE ALFONSO HURLS BOMBS FROM THE SKY ON MOORISH TROOPS

Cousin of Spain's King in Aeroplane Fights Back When Made a Mark for Bullets.

TETUAN, Morocco, Dec. 1.—A daring aeroplane reconnaissance was carried out today by Prince Alfonso, a cousin of the King of Spain, who, accompanied by Col. Viven, flew from Tetuan to Arilla over a route infested by Moors. The two aviators hovered for some time over the enemy's position, their aeroplane meanwhile being a target for the Moorish sharpshooters.

The aviators, who several times had narrow escapes, replied to the fusillade by dropping bombs into the Moors' encampment.

WOMAN SHOT BY HUSBAND MAY DIE AT ANY MOMENT

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Dec. 1.—Mrs. Michael Crusek, who was shot in the left shoulder yesterday by her husband, accidentally, he says, is in a serious condition today at the Somerset Hospital. She is in a semi-conscious condition and liable to take a turn for the worst and die at any moment. The doctors say her chance of recovery is so slight that her death seems almost certain to occur from the wound.

Neighbors have informed the Prosecutor's men who have been investigating the case that the Crusek couple had a quarrel on Thanksgiving day and that at that time the husband made threats of getting even.

Crusek has claimed he was practicing in the yard with his revolver yesterday, and thinking he had discharged all the cartridges, went into the house, handling the weapon in a careless manner so that it went off. His wife was bending over a trunk and the bullet hit her. Crusek is in the county jail during the investigation.
